

FIREDOORS – Are you aware of the risks?

With the increasing specification of fire rated doors on both commercial and domestic projects, there can be confusion on what doors are available, what should be fitted in differing situations, and what work can be carried out on site.

To clarify matters, it is no longer allowed for contactors to re-size and fit glazing apertures on site, unless they have certification to cover.

As leading fire door suppliers we know how important fire door safety is and that's why the Joseph Parr Group became CERTIFIRE approved under its 3rd Party Certification, as well as ISO 9001 registered.

We can now supply all your requirements for fire rated doors – standard size doors, non-standard size doors, pairs, vision panels created and glazed – to whatever specification you require. We offer internal and external paint grade doors, veneered doors and glazing to suit your specific requirements.

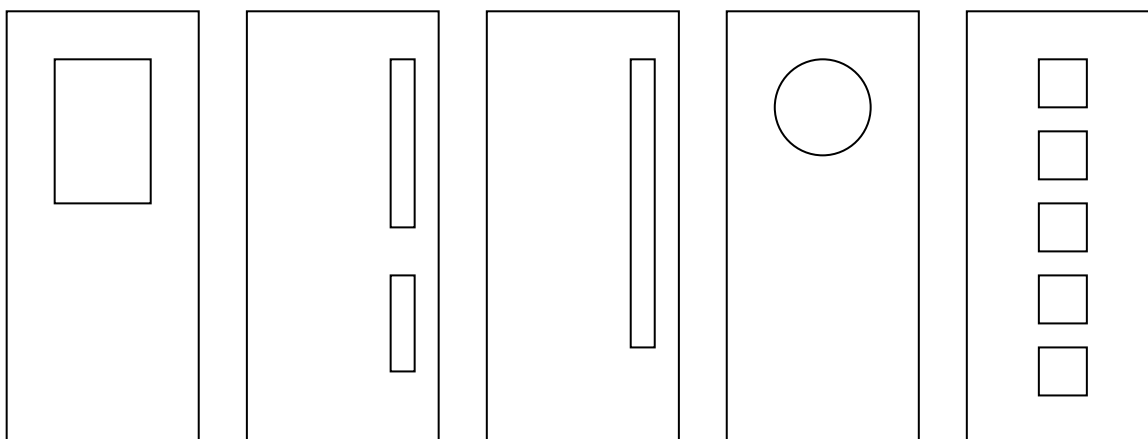

We can also supply softwood or hardwood frames – either loose, or assembled for easy on-site installation, with the relevant intumescent details in section sizes to suit your requirements.

In addition, we can offer PEFC and FSC certified doors and frames where specified, and we can offer a range of further joinery services to speed up site installation. This includes priming on doors and frames, pre-hanging of doors, rebating, lock/hinge preparation - in fact, whatever your contact requires, we will be pleased to help!

When you are choosing fire doors you need to be assured of their effectiveness.

The fire doors we supply are not only manufactured to meet the requirements of BS 476 part 20 & 22 1987, they are also CERTIFIRE approved.

We offer a range of vision panels, including DDA/Mobility, Part M compliant options. Examples of some of the apertures we can install are shown below, but this is by no means exhaustive:
